

Follow me to...

The Barn Quilts at Lincolnvile

“Maine’s first Barn Quilt Community”

Our Quilt Trail...

Not long ago the Lincolnvile residents were posed the question: “Are there any barn quilts around Lincolnvile?” A barn quilt is a large piece of wood that is painted to look like a standard quilt block. Barn quilts have been around for hundreds of years. Today over 30 U.S. States and 2 Canadian Provinces have barn quilts that attract visitors from far and wide to follow a “barn quilt trail.” A quilt trail consists of many barn quilts that are mapped together and visited. Those following along the trail receive a map with all of the locations marked, and viewers drive through the countryside to see all of the blocks. A wide variety of people have created them, including quilt guilds, schools, churches, and 4-H clubs.

Lincolnvile resident, Steve Nystrom, offered to have his classes at Camden Hills High School assist in the construction and painting of the barn quilts for Lincolnvile. The sizes of the squares vary, but usually, Lincolnvile’s barn quilts measure 8 x 8’, 4 x 4’ or 2’x2’ and can be found hanging on the exterior of a barn, house, garage, shed or other out building. The majority of barn quilts are comprised of simple geometric shapes, like squares, rectangles and triangles. They usually are painted in solid colors. The simplicity in shape and the vibrancy of solid colors make these blocks easily seen from afar.

Where are our Barn Quilts?

Lincolnvile Beach ...

2372 Atlantic Hwy. (Rt. 1) on the north end of the motel and the side of Cottage 1

2494 Atlantic Hwy. (Rt. 1) on the north end of the house

Duck Trap ...

227 Duck Trap Rd. on the front of the barn

Lincolnvile Center ...

208 Main St. on the historical society outdoor display

493 Hope Rd. on the front of the building

212 Masalin Rd. on the front of the barn

283 Vancycle Rd. on the front of the barn